

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute invites you to hear:

Wednesday
March 2, 1994
12:00 noon

R.S.V.P.
before February 28
848-2373 or 848-2372

The Lounge
Simone de Beauvoir Institute
2170 Bishop Street

Concordia UNIVERSITY

Ann Jones

Women Who Kill

Ann Jones is an author, journalist, and critic. She is widely recognized as an authority on women and criminal justice. She has been a frequent guest on radio and television shows commenting on cases of intimate violence.

Ann Jones is the author of the classic historical study of women and violence Women Who Kill. Her newest book, Next Time She'll Be Dead: Battering—And How To Stop It, published in January 1994 by Beacon Press, discusses the rising tide of male violence against wives and girlfriends.

Co-sponsors:
Department of Sociology, Concordia University
Département de criminologie, Université de Montréal.